A graduate of the University of Cincinnati with a Bachelor's degree in Marketing and Management, Andrew began his real estate career in early 2002 following eight years of prior sales and account management experience. Since starting his real estate career, he has performed a wide range of transaction related functions, including demographic and market analysis, site selection, pre-development due diligence, purchase/sale and lease negotiations and coordination of all transaction related activities.

Andrew concentrates on representing national and regional retailers and restaurants in the acquisition or leasing of property. He is also focused on site assemblages, leasing and sales for retail owners and developers, and property disposition for national retailers and property owners. Andrew's geographical areas of coverage include Cincinnati, Dayton, Columbus, Toledo and the smaller cities and towns in-between.

Andrew is a founding Principal of OnSite Retail Group.
